Automate your Machine Meter Reads

The Essential Tool for Meter Readings – Complete the Process in Minutes

WEB READS is an application allowing your clients to enter a machine meter reading via a web browser for devices which do not have the capability to electronically transfer meter read information.

This alleviates the need of having to manually contact the client for reads, or rely on email transfer from the site. The feature has an embedded workflow in ICE, and will allow for a streamlined approach for collection of reads which currently requires human intervention to record.
